Country Club Carnival

Good Attendance—Thrilling Adventures—Many Interesting Games—Ford Car Won

by H. H. Cole of Norway

A busy midway with shows, games of skill, novel money catchers, excitement and bright lights, featured during the third annual Country Club Carnival presented near their club house above Norway Lake Saturday afternoon and evening. Golfing held the attention of a large number of players, who swarmed over the greens during daylight. An added attraction was a close contest for the Blackford cup, which was carried over to a finish on Sunday.

Bright decorations and a brilliant illumination in the evening furnished the setting for the carnival spirit that gripped a crowd of patrons from Lewiston, Auburn, Harrison, Waterville, Lovell, Paris, and other surrounding towns. Summer guests were in the majority and seemed to enjoy the fun. They were generous with their patronage.

The midway was a regulation fun trail where games, shooting, cigar packages, Monte Carlo game, dark poker, Russian roulette and other playing schemes not so wicked as the names seem to indicate. Horse racing, golf pitching game and a shooting gallery were interesting places.

In the tent there were talking movies and a business meeting. The "Home Economics" committee, Mrs. Mabel Holman, chairman, will conduct the program. Bear River Grange of North Newry will be guests for the evening.

Mrs. Susan Wright, a member of Home Economics committee of State Grange, will be one of the speakers of the evening, also Miss Ada Brewster, our new home demonstration agent for Oxford County.

Miss Margaret Knightly and Mrs. Louise Bennett, who are in charge of the stunts and games and the following committee will serve lunch at close of meeting: Mrs. Alice Watson, Mrs. Mary Abbott, Mrs. Adelaide Upson, and Mrs. Lizzie Howe.

Farm Bureau-Grange Field Day

One of the most outstanding speakers ever to appear on a field day program is the person who will address the Oxford County Pomona Grange and Farm Bureau Field Day group at Songo Pond, Berthel, on Saturday, Aug. 20. The speaker is Judge Max J. Pinsky of Portland. The enthusiasm, vitality, forcefulness and extremely human and understanding character displayed by the speaker has set many an audience through all the varied emotions from tears to laughter. Judge Pinsky's speech has been a real treat to the audience, and he is likely to face a cheering and enthusiastic reception.

Other field day attractions are water sports and boating, various amusements, such as horsehoe pitching, baseball, swings and trapeze. Music will be furnished by a combination band-orchestra during the day. Bath houses will be furnished free by manager, Robert T. Clough. He will also have his store well stocked with ice cream, sodas, candies, milk, sandwiches, hot dogs, etc. A fine sandy beach with a float, diving board and water slide will be attractive to those who enjoy bathing.

August Weddings

Friskhorn-Keighler

One of the prettiest and most unique weddings of the summer took place Saturday afternoon, August 6, when Miss Ethelyn Friskhorn of Detroit, Mich. became the bride of Mr. Howard V. Keighler, Jr. of Drexel Park, Pa.

The wedding was held at the summer home, on Lake Penesseewassee, of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard V. Keighler.

The large living room was beautifully decorated with evergreens and large baskets of wild flowers of yellow and white. The canopy of green, under which the ceremony was performed, was of evergreen and gladioli.

Ralph W. Friskhorn, brother of the bride, was best man and Miss Sara Keighler, sister of the groom, was maid of honor.

The bride's dress was of white tulle and the groom wore a tuxedo. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. Winslow Lyon, pastor of the Methodist church in Norway.

Both Miss Friskhorn and Mr. Keighler are friends of long standing of the Norway Country Club. This received excellent patronage.

If the night air on the ridge was too strong, there was still opportunity for play in the house. Table tennis for sets of four was a poser for players not adept in the family game. Water polo, lively balls are controlled with small, wooden hand rackets. Music was broadcast through a loud speaker in the evening.

About everybody was on edge when the bride's father gave away the bride. H. Cole of Norway had the lucky number and received the splendid gift.

The affair was a social and financial success. It is believed at least $800.00 will be added to the treasury.

Judkins-Thompson

A very pretty wedding took place at the home of Rev. Royal Brown of Lewiston, Saturday afternoon.

The contracting parties were Garfield James Judkins of Norway, formerly of Rangely, and Merlene Frances Thompson, of Oxford.

The ceremony took place at 5:40 p. m. They were attended by the mother of the bride, Mrs. Arthur Thompson, and Miss Ida Murch, cousin of the bride. The double ring service was used. The bride wore blue silk crepe with hat to match. The groom's suit was navy blue.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson of Oxford. She is a sister of the late Mr. Thompson. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Judkins of Rangely, formerly of Oxford. He is a student in the public schools of Norway and Oxford. She was formerly employed in the J. J. Newberry store.

FIRST SHOT IN REPUBLICAN CAMPAIGN

The first Republican guns to be fired for the September election were touched off by a large group of speakers made a flying trip over a circuit starting at Kezar Falls and ending at Rumford. This was not the big movement of the party, but a preliminary move to get the party in the public schools of Norway and Oxford. She was formerly employed in the J. J. Newberry store.

The party was Congressman Partridge, Burleigh Martin, candidate for Governor, State Commissioner Omer L. Stanton, County Chairman William J. Leader, Albert Parks, candidate for Register of Probate; Henry Hastings, candidate for Judge of Probate; Harry Stinson, candidate for sheriff; and a number of other speakers.

Stearns of Hiram, Sidney Stanley and Sidney Bacheholder of Kezar Falls and James Perry of South Paris. At night the party had an informal dinner at the new Hotel Hiram. The guests were Mrs. Walter G. Morse, Mrs. Nellie Bisbee, Mrs. William J. Leader and James B. O'Kane.

Chairman Leader announced that on September 2 the party would hold a big day of the party, when candidates for Governor, State Commissioner, Register of Probate and Judge of Probate would be there. There would be a big morning meeting at Fryburg, a noon meeting at Norway and South Paris and a night meeting in Rumford with smaller ones between.

SEASIDE EXCURSION TO PORTLAND

Much interest seems to be taken in the Seaside Excursions to be run over the Grand Trunk from Island Pond, Sunday, August 14. Years ago, this weekly outing was largely patronized, but gradually lost its drawing power as motor vehicles grew in numbers and popularity.

A very low fare has been made to Portland on the morning or afternoon regular trains, Saturday, August 13th. The same low rate is made for the excursion from Island Pond, Sunday, leaving Norway at 6:41 a. m., South Paris at 6:34 a. m., standard time. Leave Portland on return at 8:45 p. m., standard, arriving at Norway at 10:18 p. m.

EATING IN THE OPEN

By Betty Barclay

Some people delight in camping trips, others declare they cannot tolerate them. If a careful study were made, we would find most of those who do not care for camping are either afraid of insects or snakes or have had a camping without knowing anything about camping life.

The only thing I can say to the man or woman who is afraid of insects or snakes is that more people are killed by automobiles in two or three of our largest cities, each month, than are killed by insects and snakes in the entire country in a year. Poisonous snakes are scarce in most camp sites. Fatalities from insects are very rare.

To the other group, I suggest camping water will save a lot of worry. A little preliminary knowledge of camp life. Remember first that sleeping in the open requires most of the covers underneath—which is a good old-fashioned Irish way of saying that the protection beneath the body must be greater than that above. No matter how much covering you have, you will be chilly if you sleep on a canvas cot. Put two or three of the blankets beneath and you will not need much above.

Remember that campers are subject to a change in the weather and that most camp food furnished by beginners consists of acid-reaction foods that are quite likely to cause digestive troubles. Balance your meals in the open as carefully as you do at home. Carry along plenty of oranges so that you may have your orange juice in the morning and the base for fruit cups and salads at the other meals.

Carry also plenty of lemons and drink liberally of lemonade each day. This alkaline reaction drink will tend to balance the acid reaction obtained from the ham, eggs, bread and other camp foods which you will undoubtedly eat.

Keep away from poison ivy. You can always tell it by its three leaves, stalks of which meet in a red dot. The five leaf plant which looks so much like it is harmless. Wear gloves when you pick the glorious three-leaf poison ivy. It will take away all the love for camping you ever had.

Learn to ditch your tent so that rain water will run off rather than inside. Erect your tent on a slight slope; dig a shallow trench immediately under the edge, packing the earth inside the canvas a few feet in front of your tent and then the water will run down the slope.

Sweet fern, straw, hay, dry grass—all make excellent beds. Cover with a blanket and you will sleep the sleep of the just. Even Mother Earth is far warmer than a canvas cot, with but one or two blankets.

Cut up plenty of fruit and serve as fruit cups, fruit salads, or fruit desserts. You can carry oranges as a base and get apple and berries as you go along. Eat plenty of vegetables and drink plenty of water.

Remember that outdoor cooking requires coils rather than blaze. Build a big fire, but let it die down before you fry your ham or eggs. Wonderful dishes may be made under glowing coal, but dishes are easily spoiled when there is blaze and smoke.

Remember these things and your camping trip will be a pleasure and a healthful vacation.

Mrs. James Kimball received word, Thursday, that her niece, Mrs. Estella Cross Judkins, had passed away at her home in Candia, N. H. Mrs. Judkins is well remembered as Estella Cross by the older ones in this vicinity. She was the daughter of Mrs. Kimball's brother, Henry Cross, who is also remembered here. Mr. Cross is living in Norwich, Conn., at the advanced age of 87, with another daughter, Mrs. Judkins has been in poor health for some time and had been taking treatments, which it was hoped, would be of benefit to her. The end came so suddenly it was a great shock to her loved ones, who are left to mourn her passing.

Miss Maud Beckler, who was called to the home up yonder so recently, was a native of this place. She was born on the hill farm, owned by Herman Holt at present. She was the daughter of George W. Holt, Julia Salmer Beckler. The family lived on that place for many years, going from there to the house near Albany town house, where his son, Charles Beckler, lived. Mr. Beckler built this house soon after he moved his family to a house near the mill which he and his son operated. Miss Beckler was a woman of sterling character, a loyal, devoted sister to her brothers and a sincere friend to everyone. There are many sorrowful hearts to mourn her passing. She leaves one brother, W. L. Beckler, of Albany, who is in poor health. Mr. Beckler was called upon to part with his wife only a few short months ago and therefore is doubly bereaved. Heartfelt sympathy is felt for him in his loneliness.

A small bear cub was seen in the road near Merritt Savin's house, Friday afternoon. The little fellow evidently was out to view the world for the first time. When he saw some humans, he cleared the field to the woods by leaps and bounds, to gain the shelter of the woods.

MAINE RURAL LETTER CARRIERS CONVENTION

Nearly four hundred letter carriers and their wives gathered at South Paris for the meeting of the Maine Rural Letter Carriers Association, Friday and Saturday.

The convention opened Friday morning with a joint meeting of the Association and Auxiliary.

Rev. R. H. Colby offered prayer. The address of welcome was given by County Attorney E. Walker Abbott, a member of the local chamber of commerce. Greetings in behalf of the Oxford County letter carriers were extended by Arthur A. Walker.

Response was made by Charles A. Carter, vice president. Sargie L. Warren of Oakland presided during the rest of the session. The reports of the officers and committees were given at the one o'clock session. In the afternoon the visitors enjoyed a motor trip to Paris Hill with forty cars in the line. "Gram" Dunham and the Panama Scout crew were visitors.

Congressman Donald B. Partridge of Norway was the banquet speaker at the exercises held in Odd Fellows dining hall at 6:30. During a short entertainment in the lodge room the tables were cleared and dancing was enjoyed until 11 o'clock. Huff's orchestra of South Paris furnished the music.

At the Saturday session of the meeting at Odd Fellows hall the report of the Credentials Committee was read. This was followed by roll call of officers and delegates. A report of the National Convention and the report of the standing of the special committees were given. An interesting discussion of legislation of interest to the rural carriers followed.
